Talamonti Tre Saggi 2013, Montepulciano d'Abruzzo DOC

RATING: 89

DRINK: 2015-2020

SOURCE: eRobertParker.com, #Interim - September 2015

The 2013 Montepulciano d'Abruzzo Tre Saggi shows some burnt almond notes derived from the 12 months of aging in new oak. Those toasted notes are evident but they are also reasonably well integrated within the general textural richness and plushness of the wine. It presents a bold, memorable style. Fruit comes from the estate's best vineyard sites.

Talamonti is one of my favorite produces in Abruzzo in terms of value and price.

The style of winemaking is very consistent and readily offers great bang for your buck.
